

THE FUTURE OF ENERGY IN AMERICA AND SCOTLAND: THE CHALLENGES OF TODAY AND TOMORROW

The ASF Energy Forum 2011

Monday, October 31, 2011

Join us for the American-Scottish Foundation® Energy Forum 2011:

The Future of Energy in America and Scotland : The Challenges of Today and Tomorrow

SUNY Global Center, 116 East 55 Street, New York City

Monday, October 31, 2011, 9:00am-5:00pm followed by 5:30pm Cocktail Reception

- How are we going to solve the challenges and manage the risks of delivering secure, affordable and sustainable energy in fragile financial times?
- How can we balance the demand for energy with environmental concerns?
- How can we share policy leadership and stimulate innovation?

The American-Scottish Foundation® Energy Forum will bring together senior energy figures and policy makers from America and Scotland for a thought-provoking day of dialogue, discussion and debate.

Our confirmed expert speakers include:

Lord Smith of Kelvin : Chairman, Scottish and Southern Energy and Weir Energy
Pete Grannis : First Deputy Comptroller for the Office of the NY York State Comptroller
David Wilson : Director of Energy, The Scottish Government
Ed Crooks : US Energy and Industry Editor, Financial Times
Bill Bumpers, Dan Steinway : global climate change experts from Baker Botts LLC
Olivia Fussell : President, Carbon Credit Capital
Carl Arnold : Sierra Club, Atlantic Chapter

Book your place now. Day delegate fee is $275 and includes full documentation, refreshments, lunch and cocktail reception. Other rates are available, as listed overleaf. Sponsorship opportunities to present your organisation during the Forum are available.

Founded in 1956, the American-Scottish Foundation® is the leading US-based not-for-profit organization fostering cultural and business ties between Scotland and America.
