

The American-Scottish Foundation® (ASF) is pleased to be partnering with the Public Catalogue Foundation (PCF), a British charity which is cataloguing the 30,000 publicly-owned oil paintings in Scotland. The ASF is raising awareness and funding in the United States for this important and unique project as part of the ASF's Heritage and Preservation initiatives.

The Public Catalogue Foundation The objective behind the PCF's project is to improve access to the UK's public art collection, 80% of which is not on show. In Scotland, these paintings are dispersed across museums, galleries, universities as well as in hospitals, fire stations and even lighthouses.

All the paintings catalogued by the PCF will be freely accessible on a new website called Your Paintings which was launched in June. Your Paintings is hosted on bbc.co.uk - the most popular British website in the world.

You can visit the site at www.bbc.co.uk/yourpaintings
